Six schools in Central Indiana came together to form the Fall Creek Conference in 2018-19. The northernmost member, The King's Academy, won both the regular-season and tournament titles in the inaugural season. Legacy Christian put together its first varsity team, and it was likely the first year in a conference for Fishers Christian, The King's Academy and the Northpoint Panthers. King's Academy left the conference after one season. The conference continued one more season before folding following the 2019-20 season.
