The South Shore Christian Conference, composed of 11 schools from northern Indiana and eastern Illinois, began competing in the 2010-2011 season. Families of Faith Christian joined in 2011 and Kankakee Trinity added another Illinois school in 2012. Along with the additions, the conference endured some subtractions when Grace Baptist (Plymouth) pulled out after just one season and First Baptist (Mishawaka) closed in 2012. The MCAC Wildcats also left in 2012 followed by the closing of Luther East in 2013. The conference played with nine members until Michigan City Christian joined in 2014.

Early on, the Indiana schools fared very well in the SSCC. Victory Christian won the first conference tournament title in 2011 before Calumet Christian claimed back-to-back SSCC crowns in 2012 and 2013. First Baptist won the regular-season championship in 2012. For 2012-2013 the conference split into East and West divisions. Victory Christian took first place in the East in 2013. Calumet Christian tied for first in the West Division in 2013 and won the East title with a 10-0 record in 2015. In between Christian Haven was the 2014 East winner.

Following the 2014-2015 season, Victory Christian, a key founding member, announced its plans to leave the conference. Soon after, the conference folded. The four remaining Illinois schools joined the Illinois Christian Conference in 2015-2016. The Indiana schools remain independent.
